Starr Bright Will Be with You Soon Nov 05 2022 A female serial killer reconnects with her twin sister in this novel by an acclaimed National Book Award winner and "first-rate thriller writer" (The New York Times Review). Demure Lily Merrick is a dutiful housewife and mother who teaches pottery classes in upstate New York. Then, out of the blue, her estranged sister, Sharon, shows up after fifteen years, seeking refuge in a life as a Las Vegas stripper. At first Lily is overwhelmed and overjoyed. Her daughter and husband welcome Sharon with open arms, eager to help the seemingly troubled young woman get a fresh start. But that's not really what Sharon wants. Under the alias Starr Bright, Aunt Sharon is the most wanted female serial killer in the country. Driven by a need for love and security, she has sought out sex and degradation—leaving a bloody trail of carved-up men in cheap motel rooms from coast to coast. Now, she's insinuating herself into the lives of those who trust and love her. She's come home to family, and not just to hide. For her estranged daughter, Starr Bright has been nursing a poisonous vengeance that has yet to claim its last victim. And very, very soon, Starr Bright will strike again. This smart, chilling novel from the #1 New York Times–bestselling author of We Were the Mulvaney and Black Water is "a real page-turner" (Library Journal). "Recall that 'Rosamond Smith' was the nom de plume of Joyce Carol Oates when writing her psychological suspense novels a la Ruth Rendell. Oates-as-Smith has had great practice in limning the type of personality that results from sexual guilt and craving love, and she explores it anew" in Starr Bright Will Be with You Soon (Booklist).

Snake Bit: Inside Carroll Shelby's Controversial Series 1 Sports Car Feb 02 2020 What Carroll Shelby wanted was a 2,400-pound sports car sheathed in carbon fiber that was the fastest road car in the world. Well, that was quite a different matter! The Series 1 was one of the most highly anticipated sports cars in living memory. It was a magazine cover story seven times and countless more articles were written about it. The car was eventually produced early in 2000—but it reached its owners well behind schedule, at a higher price, and in smaller numbers than first projected. The story of the Shelby Series 1 "is about everything that could go wrong and then did." It's a drama of gigantic and aspiring egos, petty prerogatives, awesome talent, bureaucratic bungling, and brilliant engineering. Of the many cars Shelby created over his career, none is as controversial as the Series 1. Snake Bit - an apt description of what happened to anyone and everyone in the project - is required and captivating reading for the thousands of Carroll Shelby fans throughout the world.

A to Z Word Potpourri Dec 26 2021 The Chronicles of a Footloose Forester were compiled over a number of years, one story at a time. Events, observations, encounters, and episodes were the ingredients in the potpourri that got filed into his memory banks and extracted years later but only after it was decided to make them into a book of memoirs. Afghanistan to Zambia: Chronicles of a Footloose Forester (published in 2010) was the first distillation of those memories and was based on an alphabetical recounting of places he had been. In the beginning, there was no intention of putting his chronicles into a book; the alphabetical listing of countries he had visited was, at the time in the early 1960s, only a device to properly respond to inquiries about his travels pursuant to obtaining and updating a yearly security clearance. At one time or another, the FBI, the Army Security Agency, the Department of Agriculture, and the Department of State all wanted his biographical information, which included the places and the addresses where he had lived since 1931. Obviously, that included every place since he was born. Thus, it was easier to compile a logical listing and to keep that list in his pocket for easier updating. The countries of Afghanistan and Zambia eventually worked their way into the list. The title of his first book, Afghanistan to Zambia: Chronicles of a Footloose Forester, was chosen as the title of his first book of memoirs. The process is ongoing. Since the travel history to other counties swelled to 106 counties and territories of the United States, the A to Z listing was also a way to compartmentalize some of his memories of people, places, and events. As a forester who worked in domestic and international locales, the A to Z listing had other applications for a footloose forester who had a lifelong interest in forest trees and their fruits. Accordingly, the second book of chronicles had a title that reminded him that the very common red maple tree (Acer rubrum) could be seen daily from Maine to Florida and everywhere in between in the places he had visited (forty-nine of fifty) during his career. A suitable title for the second book thus began to take shape. An A to Z theme led to bookend tree species names that were also a part of his reveries. It was gratifying to settle on a subtropical fruit tree commonly known as the jujube and with the botanical name Zyzyphus. Two jujube trees are growing and thriving right next to his house in Virginia. Thus, another A to Z listing became the receptacle that included personal anecdotes about a potpourri of things in other countries and in the natural world in general. The eventual name of his second book of memoirs emphasized his forestry interests, except that the stories that he wanted to share did not dwell solely on trees or on people, places, animals, or events. Dreams and viewpoints about abstract subjects that he wanted to share were also included. Summoned, sorted out, and organized into volume 1, Essays & Dreams that was published in 2015. Another volume of personal blogs regarding tangible, physical, sometimes-hair-raising, real-time episodes in reality were included in volume 2, Stories & Adventures that was published in early 2016. Of the 340 blogs that still reside in his computer archives, there are perhaps a hundred or so that have not yet been selected for inclusion in his book. This book and its title, A to Z Word Potpourri: Chronicles of a Footloose Forester is the final product. The next job is to make another list and decide which stories, essays, dreams, and adventures might be included in a suitable fifth book of memoirs that does not require chronology, background history, logical train of thought, or other raison d'être.

The book provides a comprehensive and fascinating account of the people involved in this quest, observations, and the results of their findings. Many of the planetary features studied in detail by tod probes were once glimpsed by keen-eyed, amateur astronomers. These Earth-bound explorers made up their modest instruments and viewing conditions with their patience, perseverance, and passion for th sky. Their greatest challenge was the fifth planet from the Sun and the search for its imagined surfac revelation of the "real Jupiter." In the process, these part-time observers redefined the meaning of the "planet." The book recounts their story from the earliest times right up until the invention of the cam

Struck by Reality Sep 22 2021 This book does not contain instructions on how to achieve your spiritual nor does it provide "how to" guidelines for your personal growth. This book was born in my heart on 12/31/2017 while driving to a New Year's Eve ceremony at my local Mindfulness Center. My heart op as I became clear that I am beginning my personal journey of awakening to the reality of life as it is in me. The only other details I knew at that time was that I needed to write about my awakening in the moment to reflect on life as it occurred. The significance of writing about life as it unfolded, is my personal experiment to determine which truth is sustainable for me. The one in my mind, that has been fueled by traditions, belief systems, norms and societal expectations or the reality in front of me.

Playing With Light Jan 15 2021 When Rebecca, a well-to-do Cuban-American woman, decides that she's going to revive the old Cuban tradition of the tertulia, or women's get-together, her best friend dashes her plans, explaining that in today's career-driven world even her friends require a compelling reason to come from over Miami to casually meet and chat. At last, the ingenious Becky hits upon the idea of a reading group. The book selected is a historical novel about nineteenth-century Cuba: the saga of an aristocratic dress-making manufacturing clan, the Santa Cruz family. The novel is called . . . Playing with Light. Oddly, as they get deeper into the story of the Santa Cruzes, especially Tico and Lolo, strange things begin to happen to the reading group. Everyone seems to be . . . sucked in . . . and affected (not necessarily pleasantly) by the novel. (What's for dinner, Mommy? Get a slice of salami out of the refrigerator, dear. Can't you see I'm reading?) As two worlds, from two different centuries, begin to intertwine in odd ways, and her friend disappears to . . . well, to disappear, actually . . . Rebecca can't help but wonder what she's gotten herself into. E. Rivera has written an entrancing and wonderfully ambitious novel that places her in the first rank of writers of her generation.
